Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 19 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Wet and windy into the weekend, though relatively mild.

Today:
Outbreaks of rain will spread over Cumbria during the early morning and persist throughout the day, falling heavily over high ground. Mostly dry further south, though patchy rain may occur at times. Cloudy for all and strong winds. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
The rain in the north may intensify during the evening, before weakening and spreading to most areas overnight. Remaining windy and mild overnight. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Saturday:
Further outbreaks of rain will move in during the morning, heaviest and most persistent over high ground in the north. Mild again, but tempered by strong to gale force winds. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Some rain continues into Sunday but turning drier and brighter by the afternoon. Dry and initially bright on Monday, cloudy later. Rain and strong winds return on Tuesday. Mild throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.